

The Gialamas Company is proud to present the 9th Annual Concert in the Park on Wednesday, August 11th, 2010 at 7 p.m. at 1200 John Q. Hammons Drive in Old Sauk Trails Business Park. The musical celebration will feature the Wisconsin Youth Symphony Orchestra conducted by Music Director and Youth Orchestra Conductor James Smith, and will feature special performances by soloists Tony Oliva (violin) and Greg Riss (marimba).

Come around 4:00 p.m. to enjoy pre-concert activities, socialize and picnic. Set up lawn chairs and blankets for FREE viewing entertainment or tables seating eight may be reserved for $250 by contacting Erica Lynch at (608) 836-8000.

Professor Bassam Shakhashiri and Dr. Rod Schreiner will demonstrate various science experiments in their original "Science is Fun" show prior to the Concert. Learn about combustion, exploding balloons, liquids that glow in the dark and other scientific phenomena!

For the second consecutive year, the Keep Wisconsin Warm/Cool Fund is proud to host the "Ultimate Ice Cream Social" sponsored by Schoeps Ice Cream. Keeping WI Cool Spoons can be purchased during the event for unlimited scoops of ice cream for $5.00/adult and $3.00/child with all proceeds benefiting the Keep Wisconsin Warm/Cool Fund. Help keep the HEAT and POWER on for Wisconsin's most vulnerable, one spoon at a time!

Concert caterers, George's Chop House & Sprechers, can meet your picnic needs. Orders must be placed prior to event for delivery. See The Gialamas Company website at www.gialamas.com for menus and ordering information.

Enjoy the beautiful music, watch the sunset in the west and stay for the fantastic fireworks display immediately following the Concert. You'll be glad you did.
